CONNECTING WITH HISTORY

“Dandy is a term that evokes uniqueness and breaks the mold. It indicates a new way of being distinctive regardless of financial factors. Deciding to call our kitchen Dandy Plus is an attempt to imagine women and men who are absolutely masters of the time in which they live.” With these words Fabio Novembre commented on his first collaboration with Scavolini creating a project not only for the kitchen, but also the living room and bathroom, updating the forms and functions of the company’s historic model with a logic capable of integrating communication, change and sharing. A tribute to the most expressive Italian design, where soft curves, decorative textures and bright colors dominate, Dandy Plus is aesthetically characterized by a bridge element that defines its profile and becomes the stylistic leitmotif of the whole collection. Another distinctive feature is the fully equipped Task Bar, an aluminum profile on which the intelligent speaker device controls the various technological systems through BTicino Living Now. And an innovative system with built-in Amazon Alexa offers voice activation of the home automation functions: control of appliances, lights, shutters, alarm, music and temperature. Great attention has also been lavished on the color palette. In the compact version dominating the white of the wall units combined with the gray of the bridge, while some colored spots are reserved for elements to be manipulated by users: handles, buttons, knobs and the levers of the mixers are available in Coral Red, Mustard Yellow, Agave Blue, Prestige White and Slate Black, in addition to Aluminum and Bronze for the handles only. The design of the living area is designed to be integrated with the kitchen, and is again characterized by the bridge element that frames the low furnishings. Among the accessories specially designed by Fabio Novembre for this room, note the table with the same rounded forms as the kitchen top and arched legs bringing out the curved lines of the whole project. And, as we have seen, Dandy Plus extends to the bathroom, where the bridge structure again appears, defining the profiles of the base units in White Plus and Gray Plus with details in vivid colors. Here too, as in the kitchen and living room, there is Alexa, connected to a speaker device integrated into a Task Bar, to which accessories such as shelves, towel rails, roll holders and a built-in LED light can be applied along its entire length. Color again has the task of customizing the range, with the open elements available in the same colors as the handles (Coral Red, Mustard Yellow, Agave Blue, Prestige White and Slate Black) and perfectly matching the tap controls. “In our partnership with Novembre Studio, we started from a reflection on the increasingly pervasive role of technology in everyday activities and our homes, to create a project that would be smart in every way,” declared Fabiana Scavolini, the company’s CEO. “With Alexa technology we have given a voice to Dandy Plus: a smart, innovative and complete project, designed for all those who want an all-over digital experience at home.” ■
